Today we were having a debate as our task and we divided the team into two groups where one will be supporting the topic and other will be against it, so the topic is : is it really needed for parents to keep in track of their kids mobile phone, so I was in the supporting side and we all participated equally for the debate and we got to know what all situations will be there if kids are out of control in digital world and we discussed plenty of problems that's happening around today. So all together the session was engaging as well as relaxing.

□ Summary□

Our session took place on sea food at 12:00 PM. The activity involved individual speaking, where participants chose topics both from a predefined list and outside it. We randomly selected one person at a time to share their viewpoints on the chosen topic. After completing their turn, the presenter then chose the next participant. This process continued until everyone had the chance to share their ideas. Following each presentation, we engaged in a brief discussion about the topic. Post this activity, we dedicated some time to practice HR-related interview questions. Overall, the session was informative and well-received.

Today the session was conducted on 3rd floor left cabin, the topic for today's session was cashless payment boon or bane, the term boon or bane was little unfamiliar for us so first we searched what what was that and then we started the procedure to conduct the debate. So as we always do we split the team into two and one was agreeing the cashless payment and one was opposing the same. We discussed a whole thing of cashless advantages and disadvantages and also got to familiar with what all upcoming threats that's going to come in digital technology, the discussion has gone beyond and out of limit that we even discussed the solution to find to solve all those problems and also to speak of which sometime it's better to have liquid cash with you and not rely fully on digital payments. Finally we ended the discussion with the key points mention both the teams and wind up the session with the below selfie .
